YOBS PUT FUTURE OF CHOIR AT RISK

by Andrew Turton

A LADIES choir in Dudley has been forced to search for a new home because of a spate of vandal attacks by yobs. Members of the Ellenvale Singers, many of whom are retired, are looking for new premises after admitting they were unwilling to risk a return to their rehearsal base at the Darby and Joan Club, Lower Gornal, after their cars were attacked.

The group has been performing for 34 years but some members fear they may not be able to continue with the choir if the vandal attacks continue.

Windows of cars parked near the club were smashed while other vehicles had wing mirrors ripped off by youths on February 8. Hundreds of pounds of damage was caused.

Practise sessions at the club have now been cancelled over fears of further attacks.

Around 40 singers are members of the group which has raised more than £100,000 for charity while performing over the decades.

Peter Guest, aged 72, whose wife Freda, 71, is a member of the choir, said the vandalism had happened for several weeks with cars also being scratched.

Frightening

"It is very frightening for them – it is very sad because over 34 years they have raised a considerable amount of money for charity," he said.

"This caused the choir to cancel their normal practice until further notice, until a new venue is found.

"A few members are seriously considering whether they can afford to remain part of the choir if this vandalism continues."

Another member of the choir, who did not want to be named, said: "We do not want to disband – not with the thought that children have forced us to do that."

West Midlands Police said they are investigating the vandalism and would be stepping up patrols.

Spokesman Lee Page said: "We will be meeting with the members of the club to discuss crime prevention and security measures which can be taken and also to reassure them about our ongoing efforts to reduce anti-social behaviour in the area."

Robbers use hammer to attack van

HAMMER-wielding robbers on a scrambler motorbike injured a security van driver as they snatched a cash box at a busy Dudley petrol station.

Police, who are appealing for witnesses to the robbery in Woodsetton, described it as a "nasty" attack. The two masked men pulled up at the Total garage at 9.30am on Monday.

The pair demanded the box from the cash-in-transit delivery driver and tried to force open the door of the van during the attack in Sedgley Road. The 34-year-old driver's foot was injured in the struggle as he tried to lock the vehicle.

One of the men smashed the van's side window with a hammer before grabbing the cash box and riding off on the bike along Bramford Drive.

Witnesses have reported seeing red smoke as they drove off, which may have been coming from a security device used to mark notes as a cash box is forced open.

Police are not revealing the amount stolen but said it was a "substantial quantity of cash."

Det Sgt Mick Greenland, from West Midlands Police CID, said: "This was a determined and nasty attack on the cash delivery driver. Anyone with information can call Force CID at Smethwick Police Station on 101. Security Plus declined to comment.

Sarah puts her training to the test

Sarah Oakley at the Merry Hill Centre, Dudley, prepares to raise money for Cancer Research by run ning the London Marathon.

A FIRST-TIME marathon runner from Dudley is preparing to put her training to the test in the hope of helping a charity.

Sarah Oakley, an administration assistant at Dudley Council, first put on her running shoes in June last year.

Now the 37-year-old is gearing up to tackle the London Marathon in aid of Cancer Research UK on April 22.

She needs to raise a minimum of £2,000 for the charity to be able to join the race but is well on the way to meeting the target after raising more than £900 during a collection at Sainsbury's, Merry Hill. Miss Oakley, who is a member of Stourbridge Running Club, said: "I chose Cancer Research because it's a worthwhile charity which is close to my heart as I have known and worked with people who have had cancer. It's something that affects a lot of people. I want to raise as much money as possible for the charity. I am so grateful to everyone who has donated and for Sainsbury's letting me collect at the store." To sponsor Miss Oakley go to www.runningsponsorme.org/sarahoakley

Proposal to reopen street as main route

PLANS to revamp a run-down area of Dudley town centre have been revealed as part of a multi-million pound regeneration blueprint.

King Street could be reopened as a main commuter route through the town after being converted into a bus lane about five years ago.

The council has started a search for tenants for the empty shops along the road, which stretches across the town alongside the High Street.

The authority has also vowed to refurbish the frontages of the vacant units. It comes as a £550,000 project to refurbish council offices in King Street begins with staff set to move in over the summer.

More than 150 staff from the human resources department will move into Regent House as a number of council offices across the town are shut.

The decision to close part of King Street to traffic proved controversial and led to fears that the area would become abandoned.

Under the new plans the road would be open to all traffic in a bid to attract more people to that part of the town. Council chiefs believe it would also make driving around the town easier and improve access to the centre.

Figures on repossession

MORE than 3,900 families faced losing their homes in the Black Country and Staffordshire last year, latest Government figures reveal.

The highest numbers of people taken to court by mortgage lenders or landlords were in Walsall and Wolverhampton. Figures released by the Ministry for Justice show in Dudley, 405 mortgage and 535 landlord repossession orders were made and in Staffordshire 350 were granted.

Millions to be spent on council housing

MILLIONS of pounds will be spent fitting energy efficient heating systems, new kitchens and bathrooms at council houses across Dudley.

The council has announced a programme of improvements for hundreds of properties over the next five years.

Under the plans around £8million will be spent replacing 750 electric storage heating systems gas ones.

Central heating will be installed in 600 homes while 800 boilers will be upgraded or replaced.

Workers will also be replacing around 3,500 kitchens or bathrooms in a £12m programme of internal improvements.

It includes replacing more than £4m of windows with modern, energy efficient double glazed units each year between 2012/13 and 2016/17.

Around £13m will be spent adapting houses for people with disabilities over the next five years.

The council has also included in the budget around £55m of improvements in empty properties to ensure they can be relet.

A report detailing the work in the council's Dudley Housing Capital Programme has been drawn up and will go before members at a meeting on Monday.

Delight as cutting back

RESIDENTS say they are delighted after Dudley Council said it would cut grass verges left overgrown for a year as the authority tried to save £30,000.

The council upset families last summer when it stopped cutting grass on all steep banks. But it has now said it will start cutting the verges again in April.

Council transport chief Patrick Harley said the cash would come from extra savings.

Man may have lain dead for months

A RECLUSIVE former grocer may have lain dead at his Black Country home for months, an inquest heard.

Michael Truby was found by police officers at his address in Mount Road, Halesowen, on December 19.

They were called in by neighbours who were concerned they had not seen the 78-year-old in some time. Smethwick Coroners Court last week was told Mr Truby's body was heavily decomposed and a calendar on the wall had not been changed since the end of July.

Letters, some of them dating back to July or August, were found piled up behind the front door when police entered the house.

A bottle of medication, also dated July and believed to be the last Mr Truby collected, was also discovered.

Black Country coroner Robin Balmain recorded a verdict of death by natural causes – despite the decomposition of the body making it impossible for a clear cause of death to be found.

Mr Balmain was told a post mortem revealed Mr Truby's heart to be enlarged.

He had diabetes and suffered from cardiac problems.

Pc Peter Harrison told the inquest there were no signs the property had been broken into and nothing visible which would have caused Mr Truby harm.

Mr Truby's cousin Sally Jones said her relation had been eccentric and chose to live as a recluse.

She added Mr Truby had even refused to have a telephone fitted at his home.

Station closures to put more bobbies on beat

Controversial overnight closures of front offices at five Midland police stations will help get more than 25 officers back on the beat, the force's top officer has revealed.

West Midlands Police's Chief Constable Chris Sims said moves to shut Dudley, Halesowen, Stourbridge, Wednesfield and Bloxwich at night would allow officers to be released from control room duties to the streets.

Front offices of stations are underused and the force needs to develop new ways of communicating, said Mr Sims.

Bloxwich is the only station of the five that will open slightly longer than the others following a public consultation.

Mr Sims said: "We've modified some decisions made in terms of opening hours to fit to the feedback we have had.

"They're not major changes but on a local level people will see them as significant. A big part of the reason for doing this is it allows us to release officers on to patrol more quickly. That will be at least 25 officers. I think it is a reasonable compromise.

Future

"We can say we're not going to go back onto this issue in the future but in the longer term we will be looking at the estate more generally.

"As people's lifestyles change, police stations are not necessarily what people think about. We need think about how we contact people rather than getting completely hooked on the opening times of a building."

Officers on control room duties will be freed for frontline duties when the changes come into effect. Their roles will be filled by front office staff. The force had planned to shut 12 stations between 6pm to 10am each day.

Engineering industry is in need of new blood

THE NEW president of the region's Chamber of Commerce says more engineering graduates are needed to fill a shortfall in the Black Country's manufacturing industry.

Cradley Heath solicitor Paul Bennett, who will take up the post in April, says firms are struggling to replace retiring skilled workers.

He believes more training courses should be made available to teach students these vital skills and believes the creation of University Technical Colleges could be the way forward.

"Talking to our members, they are keen to recruit and invest," said Mr Bennett.

"The challenge is to try to attract people, particularly the significant number of young people that are unemployed, into manufacturing and engineering.

"The biggest challenge I think for this area is to ensure we do not skip a generation or a number of generations in terms of their opportunities to work."

Mr Bennett, who is a senior partner at George Green Solicitors and is Dudley chamber president, has been out to visit colleges in the area to see the work they are doing with students.

Museum earns a massive accolade

THE Black Country Living Museum in Dudley has been named one of the most culturally significant sites in the world.

The attraction, in Tipton Road has been recognised by Arts Council England with its prestigious "Designation" accolade, after judges were wowed by the rich history behind the exhibits.

Museum chairman John Hughes said that the lengthy application process had been tough, but worthwhile.

"I am absolutely thrilled we have gained this internationally recognised accolade," he said.

"The award is a fitting tribute to the museum, the Black Country and the many hundreds of people who have campaigned, developed and supported us over the last 40 years."

Chief executive Andrew Lovett added: "This is not just good for the museum, it's good for the whole Black Country."

Councils across the region paid tribute to the museum's importance in attracting visitors from across the country and abroad.

Free town parking ruled out

FREE parking has been ruled out as a solution to Dudley's problems by council leader Les Jones.

It comes after the town was named the worst in the country for empty shops – with 29 per cent unused.

Traders have campaigned for years for free parking to attract more customers.

But Councillor Jones said there was "no quick fix" and the authority would not consider abolishing charges at some car parks.

Some 55 new on-street spaces have already been created by getting rid of double yellow lines.

Councillor Jones said: "Free parking is not a panacea and there is no quick fix.

"We feel that short-term on-street free parking is the way forward as car parks cost money to run.

"If you have quality attractions and parking spaces then people will come."

Alan Caswell, who runs the Arcade Toy Shop in the Fountain Arcade, has campaigned for better parking facilities in the town.

He said: "We need to get more people visiting the town – and the way to do that is either free parking or improved facilities."

Cash grant for pastors

A COMMUNITY group has been praised for its work keeping revellers safe on nights out in Stourbridge.

Stourbridge Street Pastors have received agrant of £11,000 to aid their work.

The volunteers go into the town centre mainly on Saturday nights to offer help and advice to those enjoying a night out. Their work has been praised by councillors and police for helping to reduce anti-social behaviour.

Cash is from Dudley's community safety partnership, Safe and Sound, and Dudley Primary Care Trust.

Comedy thrill

A BLACK Country drama group is getting ready to stage their latest production.

The Community Players will perform comedy-thriller Secondary Cause of Death at the Oakfield Centre, Brettell Lane, Brierley Hill, from March 7 to 12. All shows begin at 7.30pm. For tickets at £6 call 01384 394349.

Battling councillor loses fight to cancer

Councillor Margaret Cowell

A COUNCILLOR who carried on serving her local community throughout an eight-year battle with cancer has died.

Margaret Cowell, aged 72, who represented Wollaston and Stourbridge Town on Dudley Council, died at Himley Mill Nursing Home, School Road, Himley. Her daughter, Jackie, and sons, Adrian and Phil, were at her bedside.

Conservative Councillor Mrs Cowell, who was also a stepmother of two and grandmother of three, was diagnosed with breast cancer soon after winning her seat in 2003.

Despite undergoing radiotherapy and surgery, she carried on working as a councillor and won two more elections.

She discovered, just over a year ago, that the disease had spread to her brain but she battled through her treatment to victory in the May elections – when daughter Jackie, a Labour campaigner, won her first council seat, Quarry Bank and Dudley Wood.

Jackie, aged 41, said: "She never let her illness interfere with the work she did – it helped to keep her going."

Councillor Cowell, of Park Road West, Wollaston, was born in Kingswinford and used to be an administrator for West Midlands Travel.

Her husband, Doug, died aged 93, soon after she discovered that her cancer had spread to her brain.

Dudley Council leader Les Jones paid tribute to Councillor Cowell. He said: "She was a very well respected and loyal councillor. She will be missed by us as well as the community she served." Councillor Jones said the start of the borough's doorstep collections of plastics and cardboard for recycling would be a legacy of Councillor Cowell.

She chaired the environmental committee that developed the plans.

Stourbridge MP Margot James said: "Margaret bore her illness with such bravery and dignity and she served the people of Wollaston and Stourbridge town exceptionally well over the years."

The date of her funeral has yet to be arranged.

Speed cameras could be an option at accident blackspot

SPEED cameras could be installed in a bid to improve safety on a road labelled one of the worst accident blackspots in the region. Calls have been made for years for action on Dudley Southern Bypass, which is used by thousands every day.

by Adam Burling

The council is now working with officers from West Midlands Police to see what measures need to be taken to improve the safety of the road.

Data from the West Midlands Casualty Reduction Scheme has revealed in Dudley there were a total of 508 crashes with four fatalities between June 2010 and last May.

The Dudley Southern Bypass, also known as Duncan Edwards Way, ranked as the borough's worst blackspot, with 17 incidents.

The figures also show there have 18 people killed in crashes on routes throughout the Black Country in that time.

Transport chief Councillor Patrick Harley said: "We are aware of people's concerns about the road and we are looking into measures that can be taken if we feel it is appropriate.

"I would stress though that I do not believe this is a dangerous road. The problem is the drivers."

He also insisted there was "no chance" of pedestrian crossings being installed near the Cinder Bank island – despite complaints since highways chiefs ruled out any work being done along the road last year.

Officers say there is too much street furniture in the area already and more could interfere with the visibility of drivers and pedestrians.

Financial

The council has vowed to look at the bypass with a view to any work being done in the next financial year – with detailed research would be carried out first to discover the best approach to any improvements.

A report to councillors says that members of the public had already requested speed equipment be installed along the road with a view to preventing "boy racers" using the bypass.

Sign up to fitness walks

MORE than 100 walkers have signed up to a fitness programme in Halesowen.

Volunteer walk leaders run the popular walking session every Monday morning at the Leasowes. Part of Dudley Council's Walk Fit programme, the free activity enables people to take on exercise in the fresh air. Nordic walking classes also take place at the Leasowes on Mondays at 5.30pm. For information visit www.dudley.gov.uk/walkfit or call Kim Braznell on 01384 816992 or 07799 070089.

Cooking up some new grub

A MASTERCHEF-STYLE panel of children will get to pass judgement on a pub's new menu as part of a drive to get youngsters interested in food and creating their own meals.

The Foxhunt, in Halesowen, is appealing for children who know their carrots from their cucumbers to design their own dishes and meals and possibly become a head chef of the future.

The Harvester pub, which is on the Hagley Road West, is offering six youngsters, who are under the age of 10, the chance to form a panel of judges and decide what sort of dishes will appear on the new menu the pub will then serve.

To be in with a chance of becoming a 'Young Guest Head Chef', bosses want children to design their own dish.

The youngsters can choose from a list of ingredients, ranging from baked beans to broccoli, and explain why it is their perfect meal.

Harvester pub manager Matthew Turner said: "We want to make sure that we reflect exactly what children want, so what better way to do this than by getting the kids involved themselves."

These microchip gizmos will not unlock the door until they have recognised your thumbprint and detected a pulse, which prevents burglars chopping off your thumb and using it to get in.

The snag is that the proud householder in this series is a car mechanic whose burned, blistered and cut thumbs are rarely the same two nights running, so the lock refuses to let him into his own house.

This is a cautionary tale for our time. The inventors are fully aware of modern criminality but appear to know little about something called manual labour.

Wildlife group on list to share £7.5m

A GROUP that works to create and enhance wildlife habitats across the Midlands is in the running for a share of a £7.5 million grant.

The Government money would make the region the country's first Nature Improvement Area. Funding will be used to increase and improve wildlife habitats.

It would also be used to help involve the community in projects in Sandwell, Wolverhampton, Dudley, Walsall and Birmingham.

The scheme, by the Birmingham and Black Country Wildlife Group, is one of 15 proposals on the short list, but only 12 will receive funding from a £7.5m pot. Neil Wyatt, chief executive of the the Birmingham and Black Country Wildlife Group, said: "The Nature Improvement Area is a unique opportunity to engage the 2.2 million people who live and work within the area.

"It provides opportunities for volunteering, taking part in biological recording and monitoring, engaging with the work of the Nature Improvement Area partners and better enjoying the area's green spaces and wildlife."

Mr Wyatt said in addition to the typically urban environment, Birmingham and the Black Country comprises of many other types of land including semi-natural habitats, urban common and countryside.

If granted the funding, it will put Birmingham and the Black Country Wildlife Group's Nature Improvement Area at the forefront of urban conservation. In less than thirty years some fifty nature reserves have been established in the region.

Home campaigners to meet inquiry officials

CAMPAIGNERS have been granted face-to-face meetings with officials leading a consultation into the future of a closure-threatened care home in Kingswinford.

They demanded talks with charity Age UK Dudley which has been tasked with investigating the possiblities regarding New Bradley Hall.

Dudley Council had earmarked the home for closure, but recently called for a rethink over the decision and launched a consultation. Five meetings will be held throughout March by the charity.

This will form part of the 12-week consultation.

Charity chief officer Sally Huband said issues raised during the focus group events will contribute to consultation findings.

"Age UK Dudley is committed to ensuring the widest possible opportunities are offered to residents, families, friends, other stakeholders and members of the public to contribute to this consultation," she said.

Families

"We will be contacting New Bradley Hall directly to ask how the residents, their families and staff would like to input their views.

"We will certainly be providing hard copies of the consultation document, we also have large print and CD versions."

The first opportunity will be on March 7 at Age UK Sedgley's base, Ettymore Road, between 2.30pm and 4.30pm. On March 8 one will be held at The Savoy Centre, Northfield Road, Netherton from 10.30am t 12.30pm.

Age UK Dudley's Merry Hill centre will host events on March 10 from 10.30am to 12.30pm and March 12 between 6.30pm and 8.30pm. The final event will be at Kingswinford Community Centre, Kingswinford high street, on March 19 from 6.30pm to 8.30pm.

Woman's death an accident

AN 80-YEAR-OLD woman died of multiple injuries after stepping into the path of a car, an inquest was told.

Thelma Burley was thrown into the air and landed on the bonnet of the vehicle on Norton Road, Stourbridge, at around 5pm on December 15 last year.

Police experts told the inquest at Smethwick Coroners Court the car, a Volkswagen, had been travelling at 25mph at the time.

They said all the evidence indicated Mrs Burley, who lived in Norton Road, had failed to see the vehicle or misjudged its distance, and had suddenly stepped out into the road. A verdict of accidental death was recorded.

A statement from the unnamed female driver was read out by Black Country coroner Robin Balmain.

The driver, said:"I saw the woman look left and I was sure she had seen me. The woman suddenly stepped out into the road and I braked."

Senior collision investigator for West Midlands Police Sgt Richard Breeze, said: "This appears to be a case of pedestrian error. The driver did everything she could in the circumstances."

Coming clean for fashion show

Weronika Bucior and Naomi Andrews model the colourful creations for the show

DUSTERS and mop heads may not sound like they belong on the catwalk – but students at Dudley College are proving there is more to style than designer labels.

Fashion students from the college are showing off their creative flair at a show today by using household items to make clothes. They were putting the finishing touches to designs ready for the showcase.

Weronika Bucior and Naomi Andrews will model the creations made from more than 100 yellow dusters. Designers Shaun Harris who won last year's outstanding achievers award and Jen Devereux spent hours creating the designs. Mopheads were used for the shoulders of Naomi's dress.

Tentative welcome on council tax freeze

A FREEZE on council tax for Dudley residents has been broadly welcomed by the borough's MPs.

But they warn tough financial constraints will continue.

They said the move would help people suffering during the current economic downturn.

Dudley Council's cabinet has approved plans to accept a one-off £2.8million Government grant allowing the authority to freeze council tax for 12 months.

However, the authority has revealed it will raise tax in future years to cover costs.

Dudley North MP Ian Austin said most people would welcome this but other tough decisions should be taken to ease the burden on taxpayers.

Dudley South MP Chris Kelly said: "I think it is entirely right that local and central government should be working together."

Margot James, MP for Stourbridge, said: "It was absolutely right for the council to take advantage of a grant."

Tory MP James Morris, for Halesowen, said, in these hard times, this will be of some help.

MP hits at cutbacks for police

AN MP who led a campaign to stop the opening hours of Dudley Police Station being reduced has hit out at cuts to police funding after the controversial plans were approved.

More than 2,500 residents and businesses backed a petition drawn up by Dudley North MP Ian Austin.

But despite public outcry, the plans which will see the opening hours of 7am to 10pm change to 10am to 6pm, have been approved by West Midlands Police.

The move is part of the battle by West Midlands Police to save £126 million over the next four years.

It includes the loss of more than 2,250 police officers and staff posts.

But Mr Austin said cuts to police funding had gone "too far".

Last month Mr Austin invited Assistant Chief Constable Sharon Rowe to visit Dudley and meet councillors and traders.

Speaking at the time, Mr Austin said: "It feels like the town is moving backwards rather than forwards.

"It gives the impression Dudley is not worth looking after.

"People are trying to revitalise the town, this is not going to help," added Mr Austin.

Warning on virus scam

POLICE are warning people to beware of internet fraudsters who offer to fix a bogus computer virus.

A recent spate of complaints has been received by the West Mercia force, which covers the Wyre Forest district, about phone calls received out of the blue from companies warning that someone's computer has a virus and they need to access their system to fix it.

"If you get a call like this, just hang up immediately," says Ed Roberts from West Mercia Police's hi-tech crime unit. "Don't let them have remote access to your computer and under no circumstances should you give them any money."

Borough jobs can bounce back, says chief

DUDLEY'S regeneration chief believes the borough can bounce back from the latest rise in unemployment.

New figures show job queues are getting longer in Dudley, Kidderminster and across the West Midlands.

In Dudley borough, the Jobseeker's Allowance claimant count had risen by 5.4 per cent.

The claimant count increased by 389 to 10,371 between October and December which is above the national rate of 4.1 per cent.

But Councillor Angus Adams said he believed the situation will get better. Dudley Council is due to start work on a multi-million pound project to link Dudley Zoo, the Black Country Living Museum and Dudley Canal Trust from Tipton Road and Castle Hill.

Encourage

Councillor Adams said he hoped the investment in this area of the town would encourage new businesses and investment.

"It is grim at the moment but I think it will pick up soon. Hopefully with what we are doing in Castle Hill will inspire others to follow," he said. Dudley is also pushing to be a pilot for shops guru Mary Portas to regenerate the high street as the town has been listed as the worst in the country when it comes to empty shops.

Meanwhile in Kidderminster and Wyre Forest the claimant count was up 171 to 2,4031, or four per cent.

The district has been hit hard on the jobs front in recent weeks with both carpet maker Brintons and luxury boat manufacturer Sealine axing more than 200 posts. Wyre Forest District Council leader Councillor John Campion said: "It is very tough out there at the moment but we as a council are doing all we can to support individuals and communities.

"There are a number of schemes we are working on to bring more businesses into the area.

Investing

"We are also investing in this sector. It is a difficult time but we are doing all we can to fix it."

Unemployment surged by 13,000 between October and December, giving the region a total of 247,000 people out of work the Office for National Statistics revealed.

That's neat that tiger feat as zoo drops in two big cats

HISTORY was made at Dudley Zoo with the arrival of two female tigers in an operation that has taken almost a year of planning. It is the first time more than one big cat has been kept in an enclosure at the zoo in its 75-year history. The two tigers were carefully craned into their new home.

The animals were transported into the big cat enclosure in a manoeuvre involving more than a dozen senior staff.

Fifteen-month-old Amur tiger Tschuna and fourteen-month-old Daseep, a Sumatran, were transferred from Wuppertal Zoo, in Germany.

Staff in Dudley spent the last 11 months planning how to lower the cats into the enclosure in meetings with workers from the German zoo.

The operation took just over two hours to complete by which time the tigers were settling into their new home in one of the site's historic Tecton buildings.

They were lifted into the enclosure using a large crane and two crates. Staff said it was a complex process as the crane had to be moved very slowly to avoid distressing the animals.

Detailed

Zoo chief executive Peter Suddock said: "We are just over the moon with the new girls, they are beautiful.

Mr Suddock said: "It is wonderful to see them in there, and hopefully, within the next year we will have a Sumatran male to carry on our breeding programme.

"We are just delighted to have such an important and rare species back at the zoo."

The zoo hopes to get a male tiger later this year.

Mr Suddock added: "It is the first time in 75 years since the zoo opened to the public that we have moved more than one big cat at the same time into this enclosure."

The tigers will remain quarantined within their Tecton enclosure for six months.

Keepers were hoping to introduce them to visitors this week.

Jobs will be transferred as Helix sold

LYE SCHOOL and office equipment supplier Helix has been sold as a going concern to international stationery firm Maped SA.

The sale to the French-based group was for an undisclosed sum. Helix, in Engine Lane, went into administration last month. The company employs 38 people in the town and all will transfer to the firm's new owners.

Adminstrator Paul Addison of Grant Thornton said: "We are very pleased to have been able to secure the future of the Helix business.

"Helix and Oxford are well-known brands, which attracted substantial interest from many UK and overseas companies. As a competitor to Helix, Maped's strategic purchase of the business makes a great deal of sense, now allowing them to significantly invest in the brands and grow the business both in the UK domestic market and internationally.

"We are also delighted that the employees based at Helix's head office in Lye will transfer to the company's new owners."

The rulers, protractors and pencil cases made in the heart of the Black Country were a part of generations of British children's school days.

Helix's origins go back 125 years as the Universal Woodworking Company, started by the Lawson family in Balsall Heath, Birmingham.

From the initial wooden rulers, the company grew to produce a wide range of scholastic items including metal compasses, erasers and pencil sharpeners.

The maths sets the firm first started making in 1912 became an essential for youngsters going to secondary school.

School faces second bill as thieves strike again

A DUDLEY school which had already been landed with a £140,000 bill by metal thieves now faces having to fork out another £10,000 after its roof was attacked yet again.

Raiders who climbed on to the roof of Jessons CE Primary left a trail of destruction, ripping off tiles in a desperate search for lead.

But there was no lead left to steal – because repeated attacks over the last two years led to the school having to carry out £140,000 of repairs.

At the same time, the school decided to replace all the lead with a non-metallic sealant to deter future thieves.

"We thought we'd finally got rid of the problem," said headteacher Lucy Griffiths.

Ripped

"But now they've come back and ripped up every single roof joint and ripped off tiles. You'd have thought that, after not finding lead in the first few, they'd have left – but they just carried on. It is soul destroying."

The latest attack was discovered after a contractor working on another roof nearby spotted the destruction in School Street.

"It's all the more annoying because we haven't got any lead on the roof any more. We had it all replaced in the summer because of previous lead thefts," added Mrs Griffiths, who has been head of the school for 19 years.

"We didn't think about an attempt to steal lead from the roof because we haven't got any left and thought we wouldn't have that problem any more. It's more money we would much rather spend on our pupils."

Lamenting our once glorious country

Extract from TEARS FOR MY COUNTRY

FEARING that the state of my country can only get worse,
I have put my own personal feelings in to verse.
I am sure that a lot of people feel the same as me,
Totally saddened by what has happened to our once-great country.
Once we had a country whose special values made us all proud,
Now today you dare not speak of any of them out loud.
Today, it is all political correctness and all of it bad,
It's been going on for years it makes me so bitter and oh so very sad.
Once we had a country that we all held very dear,
Now today, we are not safe because we all live in fear.
A country once so great you were proud to belong,
How can our politicians continually get so much wrong?
We have criminals treated better than their victims today,
Yes, it does seem that as a nation we have clearly lost our way.
Yes the state of our country today is a crying shame,
And it is our politicians who are clearly to blame.
Our country I think it may be too late to save,
And no doubt our soldier heroes are turning in their grave.

No point in becoming Dudley city

I FOR one am not in favour of Dudley becoming a city.

Living in Coseley, which came under the jurisdiction the Dudley Metropolitan Borough in 1966 with the boundary changes, if anything we ought to revert back to the urban district councils.

At least they looked after the community, and its welfare, which is more than can be said for coming under the DMBC.

We had our own police station, fire station, refuse bins emptied twice a week, road and drain cleaning on a regular basis, and with the foresight of that Coseley Urban District Council we had our own swimming pool. Now what have we got?

No police station, no fire station, no swimming pool, refuse bags emptied once a week.

Rarely do we see the roads or drains cleaned, except in November when the roads are cleaned just before the Remembrance Day Parade.

Now Dudley Council wants to spend millions on revamping the market place. What the hell for?

They spent more than £1m on Stone Street Square not far away from the market place – and what use has it served? There was £1m on the Council Plus building and now I believe plans are in the pipeline for it to be on the move again.

We mustn't forget all the vast amount of money that has been spent on a leisure centre in south of the borough, just recently a sum of £474,000. And the best part is, it's still got an uneven floor. How much money does it need to get the floor even?

No! I am not in favour of Dudley becoming a city. To me there are far more important things to deal with.

Apply the law to the owners of cruise ship

IT SEEMS sailing too close to the shoreline in an unauthorised, unscheduled and unplanned manoeuvre was not unusual in the case of a particular Italian ship.

In fact, footage has been shown in reports of it doing just that on previous occasions.

That being the case, it must follow that the cruise company and owners must have been aware through their "black box" data recordings' that it was happening and took no steps, until now of course.

Therefore, on the basis that maritime law was being broken and knowingly so, the company should also be held to account in a court of law along side the unfortunate but irresponsible captain.

NHS care will suffer if changes go ahead

IF MR Cameron has his way, under proposed changes to the NHS, hospitals such as Russells Hall, will be allowed to earn up nearly 50 percent of their income from private patients.

In reality this means that cash strapped hospitals entering the market place, will compete with each other for private patients. The number of NHS beds will be reduced, as hospitals search for profit. Pandering to the incentive of "going private" will involve the opportunity to jump NHS waiting lists. Those hospitals unable to raise sufficient revenue would face closure.

Already, Russells Hall is in crisis situation over a reduced capacity in maternity beds. Prospective mothers have been booked to have their babies in other hospitals.

A spokesperson for Russells Hall, has said the feasibility of increasing capacity is being looked into. If the study does lead to an increase in beds and Mr Cameron's plans are allowed to become law, the increased capacity may well be over run by newly privatised sector patients.

It's little wonder UK has few jobs

DURING my years as a sales representative, (1965 - 1981) I developed a "theory". The so-called Queen's Award to Industry for Exports was detrimental, as well as an incentive. Life since then has proved me right.

During my career, one of my customers was Courtaulds Engineering. One of their main lines was textile making machinery, which was sold all over the world, for which they earned the Queen's Award. So called "under-developed countries" purchased this machinery and started making materials, which were then sold back to the UK.

At a meeting in London one of the speakers was an MP, who said "we are actively encouraging industry to leave the UK".

MEMORY LANE

by Lee Watton

A £7 MILLION scheme that has changed Stourbridge Bus Station beyond recognition has rekindled memories of the old site for one long-time worker.

Bryan Bush started out as a driver in 1962 and worked there and its neighbouring garage until 1985.

The 73-year-old, of Maypole Drive, Stourbridge, says while nothing now remains of either the original station or garage he still has fond memories of both and the people who worked there.

Redevelopment of the Foster Street East site will create a bus interchange with a new concourse and subway link but Mr Bush says things had been very different when he started working there.

The station had been split in two with the old railway station, which was then the main line, at the centre of the site. But the big difference was that opposite the station stood a garage where the buses were stored and maintained. The vehicles also used to leave this site to begin their daily journeys.

That is now occupied by the Mercedes Benz dealership but at one time it was one of the biggest employers in the town with around 200 staff working there.

Mr Bush later became an acting inspector and then a union chairman and finally a liaison officer.

"The garage was a bustle of activity in those days as buses continually left and entered the site while on their journeys," he says.

"We had vehicles going out to all areas such as Worcester, Ludlow and Kidderminster along with the closer destinations such as Cradley Heath and outlying parts of Stourbridge.

"I worked there until 1985 when the garage was finally closed. It was a shame as it was a great place to work and at the time a lot of people were employed there."

Mr Bush says staff were a close knit team and went on social events, including fishing trips.

The garage was demolished soon after its closure on January 26, 1985, marking the end of an era.

Staff gathered for one last photograph of their final day before they were transferred to depots in Hartshill, Dudley and Quinton as part of West Midlands Travel's rationalisation plans. But Mr Bush says many keep in touch and meet for regular reunions.

The replacement, built to bring the split station together, cost £147,000, was demolished last year.

"The recent work at the site is the second major change I can remember happening at the station," says Mr Bush, who worked on the buses for nearly 40 years.

"However, I am sure there will be people who continue to think fondly of the old station and before that the garage."

Fire chairman hits out at station campaigners

THE West Midlands Fire Authority chairman has hit out at campaigners behind a legal bid to save Halesowen Fire Station.

Controversial plans to shut the station and axe one of two 24-hour crews serving the area were approved by the authority in November last year.

But a legal fight to overturn the closure and fire crew plans has now been kick-started with campaigners raising £10,000 in an attempt to have a judicial review held into the decision.

Halesowen Fire Station, in Hagley Road, is set to close on March 31 with a new station built at an as-yet undecided location.

Unnecessary

But Sandwell Councillor John Edwards, chairman of the fire authority, says a judicial review could cause a delay to proposals for the replacement covering Halesowen and Cradley Heath.

Two consultation events will be held in March when artist impressions of the new base will go on display.

But Councillor Edwards said if the review went ahead it could: "cause unnecessary delay and expense which would be bad news for everyone".

He added: "We are keen to move as quickly as possible to provide a brand new community fire station to cover people in the Halesowen and Cradley Heath areas.

"I also want to provide certainty for our firefighters and station staff."

Venue hitting right note

A NEW live music venue in Dudley has been striking the right chord with music fans.

The Spareroom at the Saracen's Head pub in Stone Street has welcomed a host of musicians and bands from across the country since it opened 10 weeks ago.

Next up will be Scottish band The Law of the Chord on March 7 followed by Wolverhampton-based Fly by Nature and Cardiff group Cliome on March 9. Junk Monkey will be on stage on March 30. Owner Tony Finch said he wanted to provide a venue where new bands from the borough and further afield could perform.

"The aim of the Spareroom is to give a platform for new musicians and bands. There are not many places in Dudley offering this chance. It's going very well so far."

During the day the venue, which is open until 3am, serves food. Bands interested in performing should visit: www.spare roomars.co.uk for more details.

Help with using internet

TWO technology champions have been recruited for a library in Stourbridge to help people get to grips with the internet.

Volunteers Mike Stout and John Price are on hand to support visitors to Hagley Library. They aim to help people learn how the internet could help them save time, money and hassle in everyday life. Log on to www.worcestershire.gov.uk or call 01905 822722.

NHS shake-up could see closure of headquarters

NHS headquarters in Dudley and Walsall could close with staff moved to other parts of the Black Country under a shake-up of services.

Hundreds of staff would be moved to bases in Sandwell and Wolverhampton as part of the re-organisation of primary care trusts in the region.

St John's House, which is the main offices for NHS Dudley in Union Street, and NHS Walsall's headquarters Jubilee House, Bloxwich Lane, could fully or partly shut, affecting 550 positions.

The jobs would be relocated to Sandwell Primary Care Trust's Kingston House headquarters,West Bromwich High Street and Wolverhampton City PCT's base, Coniston House, Chapel Ash.

Structure

All four primary care trusts were brought under a single senior management structure called the Black Country Cluster last April. Health service bosses said lower numbers of staff have been occupying all four buildings due to changes being introduced as the proposed NHS reforms gather pace.

They said that in some cases staff are now working across a number of locations – leading to a review of the office space currently used. Black Country Cluster chief executive Rob Bacon said the body was carrying out a comprehensive review before changes expected in April 2013.

"No final decision has been taken and further detailed work still needs to be carried out," he said.

Cat charity needs help

CAT lovers are being asked to volunteer their time to help a charity raise funds and rehome unwanted and abandoned moggies.

The Stourbridge and District branch of Cats Protection says it needs new people to help out in a number of positions. These include running fundraising stands, helping out at its charity shop in Stourbridge and visiting the homes of prospective new owners.

James has a lion's heart

Fitness and running coach James Bickley at one of his fitness sessions

AN ATHLETE who overcame a serious heart problem as a boy to achieve sporting success is now sharing his knowledge and experience with others in the Black Country.

James Bickley, aged 24, has launched his own fitness business.

He already teaches weekly classes at Cotwall End Primary School, in Sedgley, and at the Priory School, Dudley, along with private clients.

Mr Bickley, who lives in Sedgley, has now secured a contract to hold fitness sessions for residents at a care home.

At the age of four, he was diagnosed with a heart condition and needed major surgery to correct a problem with his aorta.

Despite a tough procedure, in which he suffered internal bleeding, he fought back to make a full recovery.

Asda is accused of bully boy tactics in plans row

ASDA has been accused of trying to "blow apart" the democratic process by launching a planning appeal even before councillors had made a decision on a proposed store in Kidderminster.

There are also concerns the proposal by Asda to develop a site in the town could cause major traffic delays.

Wyre Forest District Council's planning committee last week decided it was "minded" to follow its officers recommendation to refuse Asda's proposal for Churchfields, on the edge of Kidderminster town centre.

But, technically, the authority could not refuse the plans because Asda has already lodged an appeal to planning inspectors in Bristol, claiming the council was taking too long in its decision.

Planning officers say they do not think Asda gave enough thought to locating the store, which would create 370 jobs, in the Eastern Gateway area, possibly on the site of the Wyre Forest Glades Leisure Centre.

They also agreed the plan, which would cover part of the former Tomkinson's carpet factory and would include a new dual carriageway from the A456 to Churchfields, should be refused.

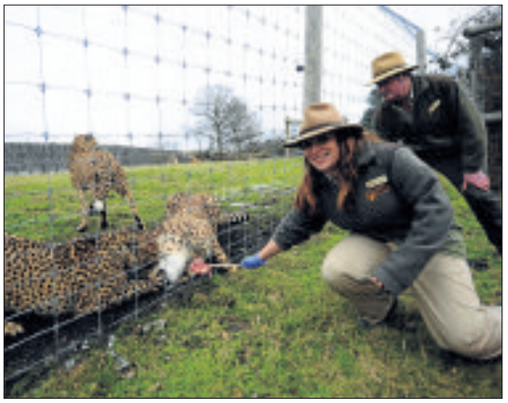
Councillor Mrs Fran Oborski said she had been "horrified" when she heard Asda had appealed before the committee even reached its decision.

"For this US-owned store to come and blow apart the democratic process – saying they don't care about our master plan for Churchfields or the Eastern Gateway – is bully boy tactics," she added.

An app way to services

WORCESTERSHIRE County Council has launched a free android app allowing residents to access to council services from their mobile phone. The app allows reporting of issues such as pot holes directly to the authority and find out information on schools and waste management.

How to meet a cheetah



Rosie Wilkes, aged 24, feeds the cheetahs at the West Midland Safari Park with help from Dave Higgins

A WEST Midland Safari Park-worker has been getting close to a group of cheetahs for her new role of taking guests on tours around the site.

Rosie Wilkes, aged 24, started her training at the attraction last week and her first task was learning how to feed the park's cheetahs.

Animal-lover Rosie, who has worked at the park for two years, said it had been an "exhilarating experience" and was looking forward to working with the animals full-time. As part of her new role, she will take guests on VIP tours, a scheme which allows people to go behind the scenes and try their hand at looking after the animals.

She will show people how to feed the cheetahs and the giraffes and how to look after the attraction's collection of Asian rhinos.

Rosie, from Kinver, will continue her training under the watchful eye of veteran guide Dave Higgins.

She said: "I have just started my training and I am really enjoying it."

Officials said the VIP tours were a success and they had needed another member of staff to meet the demand.

Just a minute, you can't post that sort of time

A COUNCIL-RUN outdoor gym in the Black Country has set a tough target for couch potatoes – just to get there.

The equipment in Mary Stevens Park in Stourbridge encourages people to take more physical exercise.

But for some the workout starts before they even reach the park due to signs which underestimate the time it takes to arrive.

Six cast-iron signposts have been erected in the surrounding areas. But the sign at one park entrance says the fitness centre is just a one-minute walk away.

In fact, it would take an averagely-fit person almost three minutes to reach it.

Known as the "healthy hub", it is one of five launched by Dudley Council with the aim of increasing fitness among residents as part of the government's Healthy Towns initiative.

Junction

One signpost in Love Lane, close to the junction with Corser Street – indicates the "healthy hub" is just a one minute stroll across the park.

But Linda Powell, aged 55, of nearby Oakleigh Road, said: "When I first saw the sign, I thought it didn't seem possible to walk it in a minute – so I timed it.

"I made a brisk descent of a flight of steps, and then a steep grassy bank and it took me 2mins 48 secs to reach the hub."

Councillor David Stanley, Dudley Council's, said: the times were based on an average pace. The signposts are an eye-catching and informative way of encouraging more walking.

Friendly football match

POLICE have organised a friendly football match against teenagers in a Black Country community.

The game between officers from Stourbridge and Brierley Hill and Dudley Youth Club will be held at Brierley Hill's Dell Stadium on February 26. It has been organised to help improve relations between officers and youngsters in the area.

Vets launches round the clock emergency service

A NEW round-the-clock A&E service for sick pets has been launched in the West Midlands, creating six jobs.

Manor Vets, which has four centres across the region, has taken on three vets and three veterinary nurses for the hospital service launch at its Halesowen surgery.

The service was launched at the Kent Road base on February 20.

The business, founded more than 110 years ago, also has branches in Cradley Heath, Edgbaston and Northfield and the new recruits bring the total workforce to 64. Forty of the workers are in Halesowen.

Darran Jannings, senior vet, said: "This new service means the practice will be manned 24-hours-a-day so that should an animal be taken ill at 3am, the anxious owner doesn't need to wait, they can bring the pet directly to us and we can examine it and start necessary treatment.

"In addition sick pets in our hospital get uninterrupted care around the clock with regular reports back to worried owners.

"If that means operating at 3.30am, then we'll do it, exactly as you'd expect if a patient was rushed to A&E after an accident or sudden illness."

Mr Jannings said 24-hour opening was a development the practice's management team had wanted to introduce for some time.

For an advanced practice of our size and reputation a truly 24-hour service was the next logical step forward in pet care, said Mr Jannings.

Landlord lets it slide

A LANDLORD has been left stunned after council officials suggested he apply for permission to build a permanent slide at his pub – just months after he took one down due to a dispute.

John Coombes called time on the 9ft slide at The Summerhouse, Gospel End Road, Sedgley, in October after temporary planning permission expired.

He now plans to install an inflatable slide at the pub for over the spring and summer – which does not need permission on condition it is deflated at the end of each day. But Mr Coombes decided to write to South Staffordshire Council to tell the authority of his plans as a courtesy and to confirm it would not flout any regulations.

He received a letter from the authority confirming permission was not needed for the inflatable slide – but was shocked after officers recommended he re-apply for a permanent one.

Expired

Mr Coombes reluctantly decided to take down the original slide after temporary permission expired at a cost of more than £5,000.

Although he could have re-applied for permission he did not have the resources to begin the planning process all over again. Mr Coombes had battled for years to keep the slide, which was popular with youngsters, after neighbours complained about the level of noise and the time it was being used. He said: "After everything we went through with the slide I just could not believe it when I received a response from the council recommending we apply for a permanent one.

"I immediately sent an email back saying whoever sent the email obviously did not know the background to all this. In fairness we have seen the funny side but it is frustrating as well."

South Staffordshire Council spokesman Jamie Angus said, Mr Coombes has informed us of his plans to put up an inflatable slide and in our response we simply reminded him that he could still apply for permanent permission if he wanted to.

Problem of speeding

AN ACCIDENT is waiting happen as vehicles are thunder through a village near Stourbridge at speeds of up to 96mph, claims an MP.

Residents in Enville are fed up of motorists breaking the 30mph speed limit, according to South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson.

He says the stretch of the A458 which runs through the village is incredibly dangerous.

To try to combat the problem, Enville Parish Council is now planning to install a speed-indicator sign.

Mr Williamson said: "This is an accident waiting to happen."

Plea to classmates

Glenis Poletti, of Stourbridge, and Barbara Price, of Sedgley, take a trip down memory lane at High Arcal

SCHOOL friends who recently reunited after more than 30 years have organised a 50th anniversary reunion for fellow classmates to get back in touch with each other.

Glenis Poletti and Barbara Price want to hear from people who started at High Arcal School, Sedgley, in 1962. The get-together follows a series of reunions organised by the school to celebrate its own 50th anniversary last year.

The reunion, which is only for that year group, will be held at a venue in Sedgley on April 20 with former pupils asked to e-mail Mrs Poletti at egap1@btinternet.com

She said while some had attended the gatherings many had wanted to see more people from their own year group. She and Mrs Price got back in touch after a mutual friend brought them into contact following one of the reunions .

Mrs Poletti said while they had been contacted by around 70 members of their year group eager to attend, there were others who they had not been able to get in touch with.

"We have had a good response and some people are travelling in from as far as New Zealand and Canada," said Mrs Poletti, 61, from Stourbridge, attended the school from 1962 to 1969. "However there have been a few people we would love to contact but simply cannot find them."

Details over control of Victoria company

THE SHAREHOLDERS group seeking to take control of Kidderminster carpet group Victoria revealed details of its future strategy for the business.

The current board put the business up for sale after the consortium led by former chairman Alexander Anton called for the existing two non-executive directors to be replaced by four new ones, including Mr Anton. Management have claimed the consortium has failed to reveal its future plans for Victoria. Mr Anton, whose family started the business more than 115 years ago, said the proposed new directors would undertake a full strategic review. "Our strategy is based upon growing the company – both in the UK and Australia. No strategic opportunity is being ruled in or out. The key aim is to develop and enhance the business to reduce the unacceptable gap between the market valuation and net asset value," he said. Shareholders will vote on the replacement of the directors on March 6.

Park visitors flocking to use free pub parking

A PUB landlord who opened up his car park to visitors to a nearby beauty spot after a parking fee hike says he has been "inundated".

John Coombes, who runs the Summerhouse pub, says visitors are boycotting the car park at Baggeridge Country Park, near Sedgley, following a recent rise in charges.

Many are now opting to leave their cars at the pub, in Gospel End, after Mr Coombes agreed to let country park visitors park there for free over the winter months.

He said he hoped the response would convince South Staffordshire Council to reconsider the charges and reduce them before the summer months. He said charities regularly using the country park for events had also approached him asking if they, too, could use his car park.

Fuming

Regular users of the country park were left fuming after the authority increased a day's parking at Baggeridge from £1.40 to £2.50. An hour's parking rate has also been introduced at £1.50.

Mr Coombes said: "The response to the pub allowing its car park to be used has been incredible with many visitors choosing to park here instead of at Baggeridge," he said. Mr Coombes said people did not have to visit the pub to use the car park but admitted there had been a rise in trade.

But South Staffordshire Council said visitors were still using the car park.

Spokesman Jamie Angus said: "The park is as popular as ever and we have seen a rise in people taking up our offer on season passes."

Youth joins national pool

Richard Haney who has been chosen for the England pool youth team

A TEENAGER from the Black Country has been chosen to play pool for the England youth team.

Richard Haney, aged 15, has been playing the sport since he was at primary school.

Following trials last month the pupil at The High Arcal School in Sedgley, has been picked for the England under-18 youth pool team.

His father, also called Richard, 49, from Kings Road, Sedgley, said: "He has been playing pool for the West Midlands since he was eight-and-a-half. He took part in England trials in Leicester in January and was picked." Mr Haney, who is a window fitter said his son got into the sport when he used to run The Brook pub in Woodsetton.

Travel firm on the move

A TRAVEL agents have opened a new base in Stourbridge's Ryemarket Shopping Centre. Thomas Cook moved out of its former home, the Crown Centre, in November ahead of a £50 million redevelopment project. Staff were relocated to the Merry Hill branch while new premises were found in the town. The new shop was opened by the Mayor of Dudley, Councillor Michael Evans

Summer start date set for supermarket work

CONSTRUCTION of a Tesco in Stourbridge will begin in the summer. Preparatory work has started to transform the Crown Centre into the supermarket development.

The nearby Bell Street Car Park closed last week and will be demolished in April to make way for the new development.

Tesco bosses said work on the supermarket was due to begin in the summer and it is then expected to take shape quickly.

An exact start date has yet to be finalised but officials said residents would be able to see the building taking shape by December.

The new store, which has been described as the most significant regeneration development in Stourbridge for decades, is expected to create 400 jobs when it opens.

Alongside the store, there will also be a 543-space car park created as part of the new development.

Negotiations

Tesco officially took over the site in January after months of negotiations with Dudley Council to get the project off the ground.Parts of the centre have now been sealed off to the public in preparation for the work to begin with only a single entrance through the site now open.

Developer Bowmer and Kirkland has taken over former shop units and work has started to remove the centre's mosaic.

Tesco spokesman Jonathan Simpson said: "Construction work on the new development will begin in the summer. Residents will be able to see the new building coming out of the ground from December onwards."

Land Rover to fight fires

Firefighter Adam Bayliss with the brigade's new Range Rover vehicle

FIRE crews are using a Land Rover to deal with minor blazes in the Dudley area for the first time as part of a new trial.

The Land Rover Sport response vehicle will be sent to call outs such as grass and rubbish fires instead of a traditional fire engine.

It is based at Dudley Fire Station and is fitted with a range of equipment. Bosses said the move would slash costs as the service is forced to find savings up to £30 million by 2014 due to Government cuts.

When fully kitted out, the models are thought to be worth more than £80,000. West Midlands Fire Service Assistant Chief Fire Officer, Phil Loach said data would be evaluated at the end of the trial.

Help sessions at library

SESSIONS offering older residents advice are being held at Stourport Library, Worcester Street. Age UK will hold sessions at on the second Tuesday of each month from 10am until 12.30pm. Wharf redevelopment will help boost tourism

A MULTI-MILLION pound waterside development will transform a gateway into Stourport and bring jobs, homes and shops, under plans being drawn up to boost tourism in the town.

Developers released an artist impression of the James Brindley Wharf complex which will be created on the former Lloyds Garage site, Bridge Street. The development will have a mix of apartments and townhouses as well as shops and restaurants.

Regeneration chiefs at Wyre Forest District Council want to create a gateway linking the popular Riverside Meadows area across Bridge Street through to the historic canal basins.

Heritage

They want to build on the success of the basins area which has won heritage awards since British Waterways carried out improvements, including restoring some of the old canal buildings.

The area attracts thousands of people every year and it is hoped the new development will boost visitor numbers and also provide jobs and additional housing.

Council leader John Campion said: "The council and its partners have been working closely for some time to bring forward this boost to the Stourport economy that will increase its attraction as a visitor destination by making use of the canal basins.

"I'm particularly pleased that the local developer partnership will also see more local employment being used during the construction which is another benefit."

Fire-fighting fact finding

Councillor Sue Greenaway, left, Promise Mncube, aged 15, and Councillor Michael Evans with other youngsters from Holly Hall

TEENAGERS have been given a taste of life as a firefighter during a week-long training course at Dudley Fire Station.

Pupils from Holly Hall School, Dudley, learned a variety of safety skills during the fire education sessions. The course, run by West Midlands Fire Service, taught the them the history of the brigade and included practical activities with hoses and ladders. A pass-out parade was held at the Burton Road station and pupils demonstrated their skills in front of their families and Mayor of Dudley, Councillor Michael Evans.

Pupils were presented with certificates to mark the completition of the Fire Intervention Reparation and Education Programme.

Concert to aid charities

SONGS from the musicals will be performed at a concert to aid two charities. Brierley Hill Musical Theatre Company is hosting the event at Dudley College, The Broadway, on March 9. The concert begins at 7.30pm and tickets cost £5. Cash raised will be split between Action Heart and the Georgina Unit at Dudley's Russells Hall Hospital. Last year's sell-out event made £1,400.

Memorial bid for dog stabbed in street row

NEARLY £800 has been raised in just a week as a Black Country community mourns the loss of a much-loved dog that was stabbed to death in front of its owner. The cash will pay for a memorial for Tyson, a 12-year-old German Shepherd, which was attacked in Abbey Street, Lower Gornal by Simon Follos. Donations have flooded in from concerned neighbours since Tyson was killed.

by Adam Burling

There are now plans for a plaque to go near the spot he was stabbed.

Some of the money could also go towards metal rungs to be set up outside shops for owners to attach their dogs' collars to while shopping. A sum will also be given to dog charities.

Tyson's owner, Wayne Bird, is a familiar face around the village and is known as a local character.

More than 40 floral tributes were left outside the Darby and Joan Club in Abbey Street and residents have stopped members of Mr Bird's family in the street to show their support.

His aunt, Rose Beedles, said: "It's been unbelievable just how many people have come forward – it shows just how popular Tyson was. Pensioners coming up to me and crying and giving me their spare change.

"We want something good to come from the money."

Follos, aged 38, will be sentenced next month after pleading guilty to possessing a bladed article in public, causing unnecessary suffering to an animal, and a charge of criminal damage by destroying a dog.

Dudley Magistrates Court heard last week that Follos threatened to cut Mr Bird's throat when the dog owner walked past his house.

They argued for about 10 minutes when the dog began to bark and Follos stabbed the dog in the side of the chest.

Now it's a TV station

Extra James Gardner, aged 25, from Cannock on the set

IT WAS lights, camera, action at the Severn Valley Railway as a film crew pulled in to shoot a high-profile drama.

The railway was chosen as one of the principal locations for Dancing on the Edge, a five-part BBC production directed by Stephen Poliakoff. Key scenes were filmed inside a train at Bewdley station and the station itself was renamed South Bromley for the duration of the shoot.

The production then moved to the Kidderminster station where more scenes were filmed inside a sleeper coach.

Viewers will also see the station doubling as Folkestone when the programme

Debut novel is sticking to top slot

A BLACK Country author's novel is number one for a sixth week running – the longest stint for a debut paperback for five years.

Sales of Before I Go To Sleep by Steve Watson, from Stourbridge, have rocketed since it was chosen as the featured book in Richard and Judy's Book Club.

The novel was written while the 40-year-old, an audiology specialist, was working in London.

It reached the top of the Sunday Times paperback charts six months after it was released – and has stayed there. Paperback sales have passed 120,000, with 20,000 hardbacks and electronic versions sold.

Patients evacuated at hospital

ABOUT 30 staff and patients had to be evacuated from a hospital in the Black Country when a fire broke out in a room.

Firefighters say the room – which was badly damaged in the blaze at Bushey Fields Hospital, Dudley – could have been deliberately set alight.

The patients and staff stood outside for about 20 minutes while the fire was tackled at the psychiatric hospital from about 4.30pm on February 15.

A male patient who was staying in the room was treated for minor burns to his leg and smoke inhalation.

Lights saving plans

THE COUNCIL that covers Wyre Forest district has agreed to continue a series of pilot projects aimed at cutting costs by making changes to street lighting.

Worcestershire County Council is responsible for 52,000 street lights and 8,000 illuminated road signs, costing approximately £2million in electricity.

Street lighting also accounts for 21 per cent of the council's current carbon emissions.

As part of its carbon management and cost-saving programme, the council has been discussing a number of alternatives.

Measures include dimming the lights, converting existing lights to more energy efficient technology or turning off the lights for part of the evening.

Morrisons close to submitting new store plans

MORRISONS is close to submitting ambitious plans for a major new store in the Black Country. The supermarket said it was putting the finishing touches to its plans to demolish a store in Stallings Lane, Kingswinford, and replace it with a 40,000sq ft shop.

Bosses said the proposed scheme would be amended slightly following a consultation attended by hundreds of residents last month.

They refused to comment on which parts of the plan would be changed until a full analysis of the responses had been carried out.

This is now taking place and bosses said the work was unlikely to delay submission of the planning application which is due to take place within the next month.

Under the plans, the supermarket would be built on disused industrial land next to the existing store and create around 70 jobs.

A petrol station would also be built and the car park expanded.

Economic questions

RESIDENTS will get the chance to have their say on how the Wyre Forest district's economy can be boosted at a Question Time-style debate with a panel of experts.

The district council has organised it for people to give their views on topics such as skills, centres and business growth among others.

Residents will also be able to submit questions at the event at Kidderminster Town Hall from 6.30pm on March 7.

Police put freeze on its share of council tax

WEST Mercia Police Authority, which covers the Wyre Forest District, will not increase its part of the council tax in the coming year.

It is the second year running the force – which covers Worcestershire, Herefordshire and Shropshire – has not increased its rate.

It means, for example, the policing part of the payment for a Band D property household remains £178.72. The decision was made yesterday at force headquarters in Worcester as the authority set its budget for 2012-13.

It is the last budget the authority will set as it will be replaced by the Police and Crime Commissioners from November.

Chairman Sheila Blagg said: "The budget is a sensible one. It combines taking advantage of the special Government grant to avoid increasing the council tax."

Help on cards for hospice

Perton Jubilee Townswomen's Guild

IN January our New Year programme began with an evening of wine and nibbles, followed by a game of play your cards right.

This was won by Norma and Gwen. We donated £25 to Acorn Hospice, raised by our members making donations instead of giving each other Christmas cards.

At our February meeting we were entertained by Will Morgan, a local folk singer. Following this with refreshments, we certainly went home with a smile on our face.

The AGM will be held in March followed by a cheese and wine evening. We meet at Perton civic centre on Perton estate next to Sainsbury's on the first Wednesday evening of each month from 7.30-9.30pm.

Cameo Ladies

CHAIRMAN Jane Emery welcomed everyone to the first meeting of 2012.

This began with the AGM followed by presentation of a cheque for £500 to Georgina and Rachael from the Wolverhampton Branch of the Samaritans, the chosen charity for 2011.

A talk was then given on the work of a Samaritan. This was followed with music and singing by members Pamela, Janice and Chris.

Our next meeting will be History of the Royal Hospital" with Roy Stallard on March 5 at 7.45pm at The Mercure Goldthorn Hotel, Wolverhampton. Details on 01902 330727/844836.

Lions club checks in with aid for project

Cannock Soroptimists

CANNOCK Soroptimists were thrilled to accept a cheque for £50 from Cannock Lions as a contribution to help fund their project on trafficking, Purple Teardrop.

President Eileen Cryer and the Club's Programme Action group leading this project were particularly pleased as another taxi firm had just agreed to become involved and the club needed to provide stickers and leaflets with the information about trafficking for a further 30 taxis in the area.

Taxis are especially important in the project as it may happen that as a direct result of them carrying the Purple Teardrop information, a woman will be alerted to the dangers of trafficking and she can then get help. Equally it may happen that a customer, perhaps troubled by something they have seen, spots the trafficking information together with the Crime Stoppers Number 0800 555 111 and is able to report it. This could result in the conviction of traffickers.

Doug Smith, President of Cannock Lions said: "We are proud to be part of such a practical initiative".

Support is a feather in RSPB cap

Yoxall WI

DID you know that the RSPB was originally called the plume and feather club?

It was set up to discourage the use of feathers in hats that was resulting in the total extinction of some bird species.

The society was awarded a Royal Charter in 1904 and in 1911, after a campaign to save the egret, the plumage trade was abolished.

John Clews, an RSPB volunteer gave a very informative talk at our February meeting. He highlighted the work of the RSPB which is one of the largest wildlife organisations with 1,100,000 members.

In 1961 the society established its headquarters in Bedfordshire with the purchase of The Lodge for £25,000.

Volunteers

Most of the work done for the RSPB is carried out by volunteers who manage the reserves and offices, organise fund-raising and conservation programmes and are involved in education.

A constant concern for the society is the birds that are in decline. We were urged to provide food for the birds during the whole year.

We were given early notice of our May Market (Saturday May 19) so keep this date free in your diaries. Details of the craft and walking group were given.

Our next meeting is on Wednesday, March 14. This will be our AGM followed by George Hook talking to us on The World of Mother of Pearl. Visitors are welcome. For details contact Penny Bailey 01543 472756.

thechronicle THE WAY I SEE IT

Hard-hit families and jobless youths both need solutions

Dudley North Labour MP Ian Austin takes the stand in our weekly Chronicle column which gives our local representatives the chance to air their views on issues that matter

DAYS like Friday are the reason I love this job.

I spent the afternoon at Priory Boxing Club, a fantastic facility right in the heart of the community.

It takes kids off the streets, keeps them fit and teaches them the importance of hard work and discipline. It's produced schoolboy champions, Golden Gloves champions and even English Champions.

So popular is the club it has a waiting list of more than 100 young boxers.

Paul Gough, the brilliant manager of the club, first approached me seven years ago. He runs it on a voluntary basis and wanted my help in getting money to double the size of the gym.

I promised people on the Priory I'd do all I could to help, and set about lobbying the Lottery, Sport England, Government Ministers and anyone we thought could help.

Eventually, after five years of hard work we received some brilliant news – Sport England decided to award the club £50,000. On Friday they presented the cheque to the Club.

Work will be getting under way soon and the size of the gym will be doubled, the facilities will be updated and it will now be able to open its door to 100 more local youngsters.

The money comes from the Olympic Legacy scheme which aims to make sure the Olympics in London this Summer are the springboard for the development of top-class athletes across the board.

Now the boxing club can go from strength to strength and we'll have the chance to produce our own champion.

Who knows? In a decade we could be celebrating an Olympic gold from a boxer brought up in Dudley and trained at Priory Boxing Club.

Unemployment

The latest round of unemployment statistics were released last week.

They make grim reading for us in Dudley. The national picture remains bleak too. Total unemployment now stands at £2.67 million, up 40,000 on the last quarter.

Most alarmingly, here in Dudley long-term youth unemployment has more than doubled in the last 12 months. More than 1,000 16-24-year-olds have now been out of work in the borough for more than a year.

These figures confirm what people in Dudley already know – the Government is creating a jobless generation,.

One of the reasons we've got families in which generations have never worked is because so many young people lost their jobs when we lost so many industrial jobs in the 1980s and the government is in danger of making the same mistake.

That's why we need urgent action. But all the evidence suggests the Government hasn't woken up to the scale of the problem.

Why else would they take so long to replace the successful Future Jobs Fund? What we need is a plan for jobs and growth. So let's start with repeating the bank bonus tax to fund tens of thousands of jobs for young people.

Tax credit

Changes to tax credits coming into effect in April mean 1,175 local hard-working families stand to lose nearly £4,000.

You can get tax credits worth up to £1,920 a year if you're responsible for at least one child and work at least 16 hours a week. Families with more kids get more.

But the government has raised that to 24 hours and hundreds of local families will be worse off.

When the cost of food and fuel bills are rising, the Government should be doing all it can to help working families.

Group is set up to thwart vandalism at popular park

Labour candidate Derrick Hemmingsley in King George V Wordsley Park

A CAMPAIGN group has been launched to help beat anti-social behaviour, vandalism and littering in a popular Stourbridge park.

The 'Friends of Wordsley Park' has been set up by Labour candidate Derrick Hemingsley in a bid to help residents improve and develop their green space.

Mr Hemingsley blames high youth unemployment for the many issues that residents have raised.

He believes that boredom and cuts to youth services are causing young people to congregate in the park, causing littering of cans and bottles and drug use.

The group's first aim is to establish a committee, with the help of church and youth club leaders. They can then raise money to implement their plans with the possibility of putting on events in the park.

Vision

Mr Hemingsley said: "My vision is to see the park being utilised for all ages.

"I believe that 'Friends of Wordsley Park' will have a major impact on the local community for the better."

Councillor Geoffrey Southall, one of the Conservative Councillors for the Wordsley District, pointed out that money had been spent on the park in recent years as part of the Liveability fund, on both the Century Garden and a multi-use games area.

He acknowledged that there was an obvious degree of disruption caused by the park yet there was no particular evidence of alcohol consumption or crime.

Councillor Southall said: "A dispersal order was called for in the park but the complaints received were not of the correct nature or quantity to warrant the order.

"Police would rather the youths be contained in the park than on the streets."

There have been two committees over the years which have attempted to look after the park but Councillor Southall commented that support was lacking when he last approached the issue.

He added: "I am unaware of any groups being set up and having been a councillor in Wordsley for nine years, I am surprised that I have not been involved."

For more information about the 'Friends of Wordsley Park' contact Derrick Hemingsley on 01384 865199 or email info@wordsleylabour.org.uk

Gardeners can dig in to growing own food

SEASONED and novice gardeners from the Black Country can get on board the "grow your own revolution" with the second Edible Garden Show.

The show which is dedicated to all things to do with growing your own food was voted UK's Most Popular Garden Event of the Year 2011.

This year's event promises to be bigger and better with a show bursting with celebrity gardeners, chefs, horticultural and livestock experts, innovative products, demonstrations and events for the whole family.

Celebrity Chef John Burton-Race will be conjuring culinary delights in the Cookery Theatre.

BBC TV's award-winning presenter James Wong will be on a mission to tempt gardeners into becoming more adventurous by growing exotic foods.

Botanist

The renowned gardener and botanist, who will be giving daily talks in the Experts Theatre.

The show, at Stoneleigh Park, Warwickshire on March 16-18, aims to inspire growers and anyone seeking a slice of the "Good Life" to plan their year ahead with all manner of labour-saving products on display.

There will chickens for sale with expert advice from poultry vet Victoria Roberts, polytunnels to help gardeners extend their growing season, and everything from bees, goats and pigs to seeds, sheds, wellies and wormeries.

Expert beekeepers will demonstrate collecting and processing honey, with top tips on how to keep the hive healthy, flourishing and free from disease.

The event will be holding "Potting Parties" where visitors can get advice on planting and growing. The British Pig Association will showcase native breeds of pigs and entertain families with daily ring demonstrations. For the children, the BPA's Junior Pig Club will stage their "Pig Olympics".

POINTLESS CELEBRITIES

BBC1, 6.15pm

For a show that prides itself on celebrating obscurity, tea-time quiz Pointless has been gaining rather a lot of attention lately. Not only did it make the move from BBC Two to BBC One last year, but its best-rated episode attracted more than five million viewers and, most prestigiously of all, presenter Alexander Armstrong's 'pointless friend' and co-host Richard Osman was voted the top Weird Crush of 2011 by readers of Heat magazine. Now the programme is about to make even more of a splash as it gets a special, celebrity Saturday night edition. Will the famous faces have that all-important pointless knowledge?

In this second offering, post-traumatic stress sufferer Brody is still having a hard time at home with his family. He's plagued by violent nightmares and hallucinations, and resists media pressure to play the role of the returning war hero. Meanwhile, Saul, who is still not convinced that Brody is working for al-Qaeda, manages to get Carrie's four weeks' surveillance on the record so that she no longer has to hide what she's doing. Observing the footage of life in Brody's home closely, she tries to understand what's going on in his mind, and concludes he's still struggling with the fact that he's become a terrorist. Claire Danes and Damian Lewis head the cast.

Transformation that will be right up your street

Forget Coronation Street-style dingy back yards and dark alleyways. The RHS is now calling on communities to put colour into their back street walkways, Hannah Stephenson reports

Haven of colour in an alley – perhaps not what you would expect

A colourful alleyway in Manchester

Urban alleyways in this country have often been seen as threatening places – dark, lined with brick walls or fences, with no colour and plenty of possibilities for crime.

Yet in certain areas green-fingered residents have made their alleyways a sight to behold, filled with plants which create a riot of colour and a heart-warming atmosphere, as far away from graffiti-land as you can get.

The Royal Horticultural Society (RHS) is now calling on communities to transform unsightly, neglected alleyways into green havens, championing the findings of a recent RHS report that shows the significant impact this sort of revival has on communities.

A survey of 231 gardening groups found neglected areas were often problematic because of crime and fear of crime. Disused alleyways were a particular concern because they're a perfect access route for burglars.

Many councils run schemes to gate off problem alleyways and the impact this has had on crime has been significant in cities like Cardiff, Bristol and Manchester.

According to the RHS report, in one Manchester street, 50 properties backed on to a four-way passage and were prone to burglary. It was gated off and residents planted it up, turning what was once a crime-ridden grot-spot into a flourishing community haven where residents hold events and children play.

"A lot of groups that have renovated disused spaces like alleyways which have been prone to vandalism and anti-social behaviour have reported that vandals sometimes continue but this is extremely short-lived," says Stephanie Eynon, RHS community horticulture manager.

"If they steal planters, do graffiti or whatever, they soon notice that the planters are put back and the graffiti is removed – not by the council, but by residents. These once disused areas become looked-after, used, lived-in, part of the community and vandals are put off by the fact there is a strong community presence.

"Groups report that vandals don't return. Whether it's through fear of being watched, the fact that there are people physically now in these areas is off-putting to them."

The RHS It's Your Neighbourhood campaign, part of Britain in Bloom, is offering advice on planting up neglected spaces like alleyways and also providing information on funding. There are already more than 1,000 registered IYN groups. To set up a new group or join an existing one, go to www.rhs.org.uk/communities

RHS Young Designer 2011 finalists Owen Morgan and Alexandra Froggatt, who will demonstrate how to regenerate an alleyway through planting at the RHS London Plant and Design Show on February 14 and 15, offer the following tips:

● A derelict alleyway can be taken on as a community project. Even on a shoestring budget, bright colours and simple raised beds can transform an area quickly. Be creative – recycled items will add an interesting dynamic to any design.

● Green walling is an instant effect and can vastly increase your planting options and available area for planting in a limited space. Green wall systems lend themselves to the growing of ferns which are well suited to a damp, shaded alleyway wall. There are plenty of products on the market that utilise pockets or pouches with in-built irrigation systems.

● With green wall technology the potential for vertical allotments is beginning to be realised. An alleyway could be taken on by the community and be transferred into a vertical allotment. In urban areas this would help towards the lack of available allotment space.

● Take into account practical considerations. Speak to neighbours before embarking on any structural work. Take into consideration the Party Wall Act and contact a surveyor if in doubt.

● Most alleyways require some degree of access. A good design should include a clear flat access path wide enough for wheelie bins, disabled access or buggies.

● Many alleyways will have a concrete-lined base and will therefore be unsuitable for conventional planting. Pots, planters and troughs are an ideal way of creating a strong design identity to the space while providing plenty of opportunity for planting.

● Climbers on funky trellis will also add vertical interest. Climbing hydrangeas are self clinging and highly shade tolerant.

● Use hanging planters to break up long sections of wall.

● The majority of alleyways are shady so experiment with shade tolerant plants such as ferns, hakonechloa and hostas.

● A few large specimens will have strong impact in a small space so add bamboo or hardy palms.

● Box is shade tolerant so try adding some topiary balls or cones for year-round elegance.

● Brighten up dark and dingy areas by adding bold coloured pots. White will act to lift and lighten the area. Paint the walls to make a bold statement, but make sure you have permission first.

Meet the hybrid diesel with plenty of promise

By Iain Dooley

THE CONCEPT of a hybrid vehicle is no longer new. We have Toyota to thank for the broad acceptance of cars that run on electric as well as petrol power. However, it's the choice of engine that has put some people off.

Petrol power is fine if the fuel is cheap. This goes someway to explaining why Toyota – and Honda – hybrids have been so successful in North America.

Sadly our 'special relationship' has yet to extend to convincing our cousins across the water that diesel is better.

And that's why diesel hybrids have been absent from the price lists; the American market is the biggest and the most influential.

That's about to change, however, with the introduction of Peugeot's 3008 Hybrid4.

Based on a standard 3008, Peugeot has connected an electric powertrain to the car's rear wheels.

In an instant you've got an all-wheel drive family crossover vehicle, but you've also got a car that can travel for a mile or so on electric power alone.

In the right conditions it will also pull away from rest in electric mode, reducing the amount of fuel you use and boosting throttle response.

So how does it all work? In simple terms the 3008 Hybrid4 packs a conventional four-cylinder diesel motor under its bonnet. In this case, it's Peugeot's higher-output 163 horsepower unit.

At the back is the aforementioned electric motor arrangement. This motor can deliver up to the equivalent of 37 horsepower.

The battery pack is automatically charged without the need to plug it in somewhere like with a conventional electric vehicle.

The regenerative process happens when you're off the throttle, and is most obvious from the stronger than usual engine braking – around town it's noticeable that you need to use the brakes less when coasting to a stop. The two power units' connection with the real world is by Peugeot's clutchless manual gearbox.

This will be a familiar unit to Peugeot fans and, while it does have its quirks, with the addition of electric power the automated gear changes feel smoother than in a conventional car.

Out on the road, the 3008 Hybrid4 behaves almost like a regular 3008.

The immediate tell-tale sign is when you turn the key, as not much happens in the noise department.

Whine

With the default start-up mode electric, it's possible to pull away with just the distant whine of the electric motor.

If the car detects more power is required, the diesel engine fires into life.

From then on, it's just like driving a diesel-powered 3008, that is until you stop as that's when the engine stops.

Move off and, if there's enough battery charge, you'll power away in electric mode and start the automatic power-juggling cycle again. If there's one thing the hybrid variant does share with its conventional 3008 cousin, it's a rotary controller allowing you to change transmission modes.

To counter the need for a genuinely costly all-wheel drive system, Peugeot adopted a traction control system dubbed Grip Control. The Hybrid4 model goes a step further; you can switch between all electric (EV), power, auto and 4x4 modes.

Of course, 'forcing' the car into EV mode will only last for as long as there's sufficient charge in the battery, which means driving gently to achieve the 'couple of miles' goal.

The flipside is the power mode, which unleashes everything the 3008 has for maximum acceleration and performance, while the 4x4 mode engages the rear axle for added traction on slippery grass and muddy tracks.

Predictably, leaving the car in the auto mode seems to work well during general driving duties.

The technical competence demonstrated by the 3008 Hybrid4 is but one element of its appeal.

Peugeot readily admits that its focus is on company car drivers as, with the base specification car outputting 99g/km CO2, the tax benefits will be attractive. Also, there's the ability to offset the full cost of the car against company profits in the first year of ownership.

Not bad for a five-seat, 200 horsepower high-rise hatchback with the same kit as a regular 3008 plus Peugeot's recently improved build quality and premium cabin ambience.

The new Fiat Panda goes on sale this month. There is a choice of three models – Pop, Easy and Lounge

There are high hopes for Fiat's new Panda motor

THE NEW Fiat Panda range will start at less than £9,000 when it goes on sale at the end of the month.

At £8,900 on the road, the entry-level five-door Panda Pop is comparable to its rivals. The price will rise to £12,250 for a range-topping diesel Lounge model. The third, mid-range trim option is called Easy.

There will also be three familiar engine choices to begin with, including a 69bhp 1.2-litre, the brilliant 0.9-litre 84bhp TwinAir two-cylinder turbo, and a 75bhp 1.3-litre MultiJet diesel.

Standard kit on basic Pop models includes electric windows, central locking, electric power steering, four airbags and body-coloured bumpers. ESP is not standard, though, and would need to be added as an optional extra.

Upgrading to Easy trim brings remote central locking, air conditioning, roof rails and a better stereo, while finally Lounge receives heated electric mirrors, 15-in alloy wheels, front fog lamps, body-coloured mirrors, door handles and side mouldings.

Collision

The options list allows for two more airbags to be added, as well as a low-speed collision mitigation system that brakes the car automatically at less than 18.6mph if the forward-facing sensors detect an imminent impact.

Fiat is gunning for results in allowing customers to personalise the Panda to a very high degree. The options list is long, but buyers might find that the overall cost can escalate quickly.

"I'm delighted that we remain highly competitive against our key rivals in this small car sector," says Elena Bernardelli, marketing director at Fiat Group Automobiles UK.

"We are particularly good value when you take into consideration the levels of equipment offered in standard specification across the range."

There are better-equipped cars in the price bracket, however, which may have more appeal to buyers' minds. Fiat is likely to be hoping that the new Panda's cute styling wins hearts instead.

Shoot-out agony for battling Old Hales

Old Halesonians 4 Shrewsbury 4 (Shrews win 4-3 on penalty strokes)

Old Halesonians Hockey Club

OLD HALESONIANS Mixed XI went out of the England Hockey Mixed Trophy in the first round after losing a penalty shoot-out.

The home team worked hard both on and off the pitch, clearing the surface of overnight snow to ensure Sunday's game could go ahead.

The game started with good passages of play from both sides, who were showcasing the best of their men's and ladies' teams. Hales soon took the lead in sublime fashion. Striker Jim Gurmin received the ball at the top of the D, under pressure from the diving Shrewsbury keeper whom he lobbed to make it 1-0.

At half-time captain Paul Woodall substituted himself which left the home side vulnerable in defence. Shrewsbury capitalised with three quick goals, one of them after an error by goalkeeper James Jones. He misjudged a through ball from Shrewsbury which rebounded off the post, leaving the visiting striker with an easy tap-in. The home side then faced a mountain to climb. Hales' Stacey Twist cut the deficit when her wonder strike made it 3-2.

Hales then equalised when the umpire awarded the home side a penalty stroke.

Chris Whiley duly stepped up and powered the shot into the top corner.

The game was turning into a thriller, and with both teams tiring chances were coming quick and often for both sides. Shrewsbury took the lead again with 10 minutes remaining, when the Hales defence were left outnumbered. Two minutes later Gurmin grabbed his second of the game to leave the sides all-square.

With both teams in high spirits, the thrilling fixture would be decided through the cruel lottery of penalty strokes.

In the best of five penalty strokes, both teams scored their first three, with Paul Woodall, Laura Underhill and Doug Houghton all finding the net for the home side.

Twist then had her effort saved, but Hales keeper Jones was able to save the next Shrewsbury effort.

At 3-3 after four strokes, Whiley stepped up to take Hales' final penalty.

After dispatching his earlier penalty stroke so confidently, it seemed certain that his effort would find the net.

However, Whiley flicked the ball high over the goal to go from hero to villain.

Shrewsbury then scored their final penalty stroke to bring the game to an end.

Old Hales performed excellently and were gracious in defeat, part of a great spectacle for England Hockey.

High five despite loss of striker

Stourbridge 5 Bashley 0

STOURBRIDGE returned to winning ways with a convincing home success.

Despite the loss of top scorer Ryan Rowe to Kidderminster Harriers, Stourbridge ended up with five different goalscorers.

They had the better of the early chances with Sam Rock going close on 12 minutes but his close-range header was kept out by keeper Stewart Kearn.

The Glassboys' efforts paid off on 21 minutes as Leon Broadhurst marked his 399th appearance with the opening goal. Paul McCone laid the ball inside to Aaron Drake and his telling cross was headed against the bar by Broadhurst who then turned in the loose ball.

After 58 minutes Sean Geddes swept the ball out to Rock whose shot struck Kearn's left-hand post and was bundled in by Ben Billingham.

Four minutes later Aaron Drake headed to John Griffin who slipped in the third. Rock and substitute Lindon Dovey also scored.

Yeltz gain point after six losses

Thatcham 0 Halesowen 0

A STALEMATE at out-of-form Thatcham was enough to earn Halesowen their first Evo-Stik Southern Division One South & West point since December.

Good chances proved at a premium all afternoon with tentative Thatcham without a win in 10 league games and Halesowen nursing an equally poor run of six straight defeats.

After a quiet opening, Carl Self's overhead kick forced Yeltz goalkeeper Paul Evans to back-pedal and tip the ball over in the 26th minute.

Midfielder Marcus Jackson made his Halesowen debut and his dangerous cross was cut out by home keeper Paul Strudley.

Early in the second period Evans gathered long-range efforts from Self and James Clark. But it was the Yeltz who looked more likely to snatch a winner and defender Mark Smith found space in the penalty area before volleying just wide in the 72nd minute.

Dashing DK run in four tries after long lay-off

DUDLEY KINGSWINFORD shrugged off the effects of almost a month of inactivity to overcome a competitive Longton side, outscoring the Potteries side by four tries to two.

Playing up the pronounced slope but with a stiff breeze at their backs, DK swept into a 19-0 lead in just 17 minutes, catching the home side cold in this National League Three Midlands encounter.

Although Longton mounted a spirited fightback with a late first-half try, they were unable to take advantage of the elements in the second half and DK were deserved winners.

Longton 10 Dudley Kingswinford 29

Scrum-half Jordan Brookes was out with a groin strain, replaced by Jon Higgins while Gareth Bown reverted to fly-half with Tom Weaver replacing him at outside centre.

Pete Knight and Dan Shakespeare returned to the back and front rows respectively in place of Adam Greaves and Rich Kelley.

Rich Kelley, Ian Langford and Nick Adams made up the DK bench.

Pressure

Knight was superb, relieving Longton of possession on numerous occasions. Bown provided some magical moments, especially the brilliant step and break to set up DK's fourth try which effectively killed off the home side's strong second-half challenge.

But the popular vote for DK Supporters' Man of the Match went to their ever-improving young hooker Luke Greenwood who had a fine game.

A constant thorn in Longton's side, he was always on hand in the loose to tackle or forage forward and with the added ability to make incisive breaks on a regular basis. DK took the lead after only two minutes.

A good call blind from Bown saw the fly-half feed Stefan Shillingford who sent in James Jefferson at the corner for a 5-0 lead.

The visitors made all the early running and went further ahead on 14 minutes when No.8 Tom Bissell picked up and passed to Higgins whose short, sharp pass was taken at pace by Bown who shot through the cover to the posts. Higgins added the conversion to make it 12-0. Three minutes later Longton lost possession in midfield and a 50m break from Shillingford saw him give Weaver the scoring pass in a two on one situation, Higgins again converting as DK raced away to a 19-0 advantage.

Longton managed to keep the visitors from scoring again before half-time and even reduced the arrears with a 35th-minute try from centre Scott Rawlins who got on the end of a slick passing move to touch down.

With the strong breeze behind them, Longton applied their first concerted period of pressure of the game for a full 10 minutes or so in the second period.

DK, however, were well up for the task and held the home side relatively comfortably before gradually coming back strongly into the game.

After 55 minutes Bown executed an exquisite step followed by a surging 50m break through the heart of the Longton cover to set up Shillingford for the bonus point fourth try.

Higgins added the extras for 26-5 and then slotted a 66th-minute penalty to seal the win, leaving the home side more than three converted tries adrift.

Longton kept plugging away and had the last word with a second try after 70 minutes when a good break in the centre took play into the DK 22 where winger Alex George received a scoring pass to cross in the corner for an unconverted score.

A very good result for DK against traditionally formidable opponents.

Lions on the prowl in Senior Vase

Lions prop Jim Owen, who grabbed three tries against Cleobury Mortimer

STOURBRIDGE Lions, the amateur arm of Stourbridge RFC, are looking forward to their day in the spotlight this weekend.

While the Saxons battle for National League One survival, the Lions play their postponed National Senior Vase semi-final at home to Sleaford on Saturday. The match was postponed a fortnight ago by winter's icy grip, but now the Lions stand just two games from a Twickenham final. Kick-off is 3pm and admission is free.

As an aperitif for early arrivals, Stourbridge Lions seconds and thirds are also in home action with derby games against Bromsgrove thirds and Upton on Severn seconds respectively, both at 2.15pm.

A pre-game meal is available at the club. Call the club office on 01384 395000 for details.

Curzon's penalty corner cracker

Old Halesonians 1 Finchfield 1

OLD Hales firsts suffered another disappointing result after a last-minute equaliser from Finchfield.

The home side, who have been lacking confidence in recent weeks, found their way in front shortly into the second half when Mark Curzon found the net from a penalty corner.

Soon after, Tom Bulteel was yellow-carded for failing to retreat five metres from a Finchfield free-hit.

Hales held out until the dying moments when Finchfield scored from a similar penalty corner routine.

Old Halesonians Ladies 3 Worcester 0

Old Hales Ladies beat bottom team Worcester with a well-drilled team performance. Bianca Homer hit an excellent hat-trick to keep up the promotion fight.

Worcester 0 Old Halesonians 1

Old Hales seconds faced their hardest challenge at top club Worcester, who dominated the first half but struggled to break through.

Late in the second half, Hales sensed a hard fought away win, and when the ball broke to makeshift forward Jake Brooke, his reverse aerial was controlled and finished fantastically by debutant James Bayley.

Shrewsbury 7 Old Halesonians 0

Missing several regular players, Hales struggled against an exceptionally strong Shrewsbury side.

Old Halesonians 8 Stratford 0

Old Hales thirds hammered their nearest promotion rivals, avenging an earlier defeat at Stratford.

It took Adam Hill only 11 minutes into his return to score after some excellent play by Matt Harrold.

From then on there was only one team in it, as Harrold completed a hat-trick of assists by setting up Steve Butler and Charles Palmer to put Old Hales 3-0 up.

Palmer grabbed a second and then Hales scored their fifth just before half time, with some precise finishing from Steve Butler. Damien Shackleton and Hill made it 7-0 before Palmer completed his hat-trick.

Old Wulfs 0 Old Halesonians 9

Old Hales fourths stormed to victory against an Old Wulfrunians side that have yet to score a point this season.

A great team effort led Hales to dominate the fixture and display their talents.

Connor in frame for game at Tyneside

WOLVES caretaker boss Terry Connor has been told to prepare the team for Saturday's clash at Newcastle.

Initially, the club had being confident of appointing Mick McCarthy's successor in time for the Tyneside trip. But Connor, 49, who is being assisted by development coach Steve Weaver and the backroom staff, has been told by chief executive Jez Moxey to continue preparations with a view to being at the helm for the trip to the north east – subject to an early appointment.

"It was a tough week for everyone last week," said Connor, who has been at Molineux for over 12 years, the last four-and-a-half as assistant manager to McCarthy. "The lads had to work hard to get through the following few days.

"They went away at the weekend and I asked them to reflect on what had happened and then come back with it being business as usual. Steve (Morgan, chairman) and Jez (Moxey, chief executive) have asked me to look after it. We'll be preparing the lads as usual for Saturday's game with Newcastle until told otherwise."

British Rally challenge for race duo

RALLY duo Clive King and Bob Ward hope their 21st season together will bring them the key to success in their latest restored car.

Woodsetton's King and Oldbury's Ward race in the Sunseeker Rally in Bournemouth this weekend – the opening round of the British Rally championship.

They hope to add their success in the Historic Challenge category, for cars made in the 1960s and 70s.

King brought a Cooper S back to life with painstaking restoration in the garage at home, after their last Mini was written off.

The crew have high hopes their new vehicle will pass and surpass their previous form of transportation and, with Ward co-driving, King echoed that sentiment.

He said: "It was only three months ago that I actually found the car. The previous Mini suffered an enormous amount of body damage on an event in north Wales.

"We dropped 100ft, end over end, down into a ravine."

I'm a believer says Heathens' Byron

by Nigel Pearson

DUDLEY HEATHENS new-boy Byron Bekker is predicting a big season for the speedway club.

The South African star flies back into the UK next week to step up preparations for his first season with the former Cradley outfit.

And he says the team assembled by club bosses has the appearance of a title-challenging side.

"I think we've got a good chance of winning something this season," he said. "We look really solid from top to bottom and we have that strength in depth which is great. The fans are desperate for us to do well and we know there will be some pressure on us but I feel certain the team has what it takes to be strong and competitive.

"You can't make any predictions at this stage because anything can happen in this sport. But there is certainly plenty of cause to be optimistic."

And Bekker is relishing the prospect of returning to the UK from his Johannesburg base.

He said : "I just can't wait to get back over to the UK, I can't remember the last time I felt this excited about a new season.

"I've been training hard physically to ensure I'm fully fit for the new season, my injury set me back last season and I want to be as strong as possible this time.

"I've been on a bike a couple of times over here but when I get back over to the UK I will try and get some laps in at Scunthorpe."

The Heathens open with tough home and away challenge matches against Stoke before defending their National League Shield over two legs in a classic match-up with Mildenhall. Dudley stage the prestigious British Under-21 championship at Monmore Green on April 24 while the other obvious highlight will be the Golden Hammer individual contest on July 10.

In between those two dates the focus will be on the Knockout Cup – and a revenge bid against Buxton, who beat them in that competition and the play-offs.

Fixtures (National League unless stated)

April: 3 Stoke, Ch (Home); 8 Mildenhall, NL Shield (Away), 14 Stoke, Ch (A), 17 Mildenhall, NL Shield (H), 24 British Under-21 Final (H).

May: 5 Rye House (A), 6 Buxton, NL Knockout Cup (A), 8 Buxton, NL Knockout Cup (H), 16 King's Lynn (A), 22 King's Lynn (H), 29 Scunthorpe (H).

June: 3 Buxton (A), 8 Scunthorpe (A), 12 Isle of Wight (H), 23 Stoke (A), 26 Buxton (H).

FIGHTING CHANCE WITH £50k GRANT

SEVEN years of hard graft by Dudley's Priory Park Amateur Boxing Club has been rewarded with £50,000 from Sport England to train the next generation of young fighters.

by Craig Birch

Head trainer Paul Gough was presented with the cheque at the club's base on Priory Road last Friday afternoon when Dudley North MP Ian Austin was also present.

Bosses plan to expand the site to nearly twice its original size and allow more youngsters to use the club. More than 100 are currently on the waiting list.

A second main room will provide an additional ring, more punch and speed bags, along with the capacity to hold more than one class at a time.

The bulk of the money had already been raised thanks to James Dickens, chief executive of Edgbaston-based property developers Hackett & James.

Contributed

Dickens will be using his influence to get the work done at the lowest possible price, helped by the cash from Sport England.

Priory Park ABC has been a part of the town since the late 1970s and Gough has seen it all since taking over in 1994, along with cousin Steve.

The 46-year-old described a scene of "leaking roof, split bags, a ring that was falling to bits and a sodden floor" when he first arrived.

He said: "Myself and the committee feel that this award is very beneficial to the development of the club and the wider community.

"It will enable us to extend the current gym, clear the existing waiting list and take on new members in the future.

"Our plans can now come to fruition. On behalf of the club, I would like to thank those who have contributed to this project."

Priory Park ABC has been churning out fighters for over 30 years and, since 2008, has been bridging the gap from amateur to pro ranks as well.

Dudley's Ryan Aston and Coseley's Tommy Ghent are their current leading lights, ex-amateurs from the club who now box for Matchroom Sport.

They are the men in the street for whom boxing is a way of life and MP Austin is delighted he has been able to work with them.

He said: "We have worked really hard to put this bid together and I'm really pleased Sport England are making this award.

"Paul Gough and his team do a fantastic job keeping youngsters fit and healthy, off the streets and out of trouble.

"Back in 2005, I promised the people of the Priory I would do all I could to help the club.

"It's taken seven years, but we will be able to double the number of youngsters getting involved."

Sport England facilities manager Ian Silvera, left, and MP Ian Austin hand the £50,000 cheque for improvements to Priory Park ABC head coach Paul Gough as other members of the club look on. Picture: David Hamilton

Robins get something to sing about now

Lye Town 0 Dudley Town 2

TWO late goals earned Dudley Town their first away victory of 2012.

The enforced two-week weather break had allowed Robins boss Andy Burgess to strengthen his injury-hit side with a trio of signings.

In came former Atherstone Town defender Jim Greenthorpe along with Brett McGilligan who had made a Friday night switch from Lye.

The two started on the bench while the third signing from Lithuanian Premier club FBK Kaunas, Martynas Normontas, was unavailable.

It didn't take long for Dudley to go close. A sixth-minute corner from Danny Ludlow rattled Steve Jackson's crossbar although the rebound was skied over.

Dudley's Rob Whitley had the best opportunity of the lot when he drove a loose ball wide of the post.

Scare

A fine cross-goal header from Alex Perry was parried wide by Lye keeper Steve Jackson after 62 minutes.

Dudley suffered a scare when Lye Town substitute Duane Darby broke free on the left and delivered a delightful ball into the path of Matt Webb whose shot could only rattle the home side's post.

But they deservedly took the lead on 75 minutes.

A fine low cross from Cox allowed Dreniz Bala to neatly set up Nikki Faux who made no mistake in neatly rolling the ball past Jackson for his ninth goal of the season.

The Robins got a deserved second goal on the brink of full-time.

A fine clearance from full-back Steve Edmunds let Bala break through and Dudley's leading scorer added to his tally.
